Insurgent Railroad Striker's Split By Revolt Against Chiefs

CHICAGO, April 22.—The next move insurgent railroad strikers in the Chicago district, split by a revolt against their own leaders, was awaited today by federal officials and railroad representatives, while traffic conditions throughout the middle and far west rapidly returned to normal.

In the Chicago district, which first felt the weight of the strike, livestock movement yesterday was reported greater than a year ago and the railroads unimpeded 1145 car loads of coal were moved.

Several "rebel" leaders, repudiated yesterday by the strikers when at a mass meeting they counseled ending the strike because they "could not fight the government," abandoned the strike and led small groups of switchmen back to the yards.

John Grinnan, president of the Chicago Yardmen's Association the first day to go out on the unauthorized strike, was in conference today with strikers to determine what course to pursue. He was released from the Joliet jail yesterday on bonds, but too late to attend the meeting at which the strikers cried down the referendum on returning to work.

TROOPS SENT TO BUTTE TO QUIET MINE OUTBREAKS

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF., April 22.—Announcement that they had complied with the request of Governor Stewart, of Montana, that troops be sent to Butte as the result of mine strike disturbances there, was made here today by Lieutenant General Hunter Liggett, commanding the western department of the army. The size of the detachment was left to Major General John F. Morrison, commanding Camp Lewis, he said.

SPRINGFIELD, WASH., April 22.—A detachment of the 21st Infantry left Fort George Wright today for Butte, Montana, to which point they were ordered as the result of the strike disturbances.

BUTTE, MONTANA, April 22.—Joseph H. Haran, a guard in front of the Daily Bulletin, said to be the organ of the Metal Mine Workers' Union, No. 890, I. W. O., was shot and killed today by Joseph Papp, another guard, who was arrested, said the shooting was accidental.

BUTTE, MONT., April 22.—City and county authorities today investigated a death late yesterday near the Nether Great mine here, in which 11 men were killed. Most of the wounded were said to be picked up about the mine following the killing of a strike Sunday by the Metal Mine Workers' Union to enforce demands including a wage of $1 for a six hour day and release of all political prisoners.

The shooting began, according to Sheriff John K. O'Rourke, while he and a force of deputies were trying to disperse a crowd at the gates of the mine. The first shot was fired from a window of a nearby boarding house and immediately afterward, he said, "shots were fired in all directions."

Both police officers and the deputy sheriff said they fired no shots.

BRYAN STRENGTHENS POSITION IN NEBRASKA PRIMARY; HIRAM JOHNSON INCREASES LEAD

OMAHA, NEB., April 22.—The received 45,000, and Smith 41,641. lead established by Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, in the early count of votes by the newspapers here from Tuesday's primary legislation as more precinct returns were brought in. In 1914 out of 1849 precincts in the state, Johnson had a lead of 11,229 votes over General Leonard Wood with General Verzhbitz third. The vote was: Johnson, 41,743; Wood, 30,544; Verzhbitz, 18,900; Robert Ross, 1,205.

In the Democratic race for delegates at large, William J. Bryan retained his place among the first four and appeared to be strengthening his position as each batch of out state votes rolled in. With 994 precincts out of 1849 heard from the delegation was split equally between the Hiltchcock and Bryan forces. The vote of 129 precincts showed:

Neille (Hiltchcock), 26,688; Shell-enberger (Hiltchcock), 26,684; Stephens (Bryan), 25,222; Bryan (Bryan), 22,694; Perry (Bryan), 22,236; Thomas (Bryan), 20,545; Neille (Hiltchcock), 18,987; McNeely (Hiltchcock), 18,861.

ATLANTA, GA., April 22.—Complete unofficial returns from Georgia's Democratic presidential preference primary held Tuesday showed today that Attorney General Palmer would have 190 votes in the party's state convention, a ten vote plurality over Thomas E. Watson, his nearest opponent. Senator Hoke Smith, the third candidate on the basis of the same returns, will have 141 votes.

The vote was so close in some counties that some political leaders today said the official tabulation might change the relative standing of the candidates.

BIG TRADES FEATURE DAY IN THE GRAIN PITTS

CHICAGO, April 22.—Sharp new breaks took place today in the corn market right at the outset. The heaviest fall was in the May delivery, which in some cases exhibited a sheer descent of six cents a bushel since last night. Renewed weakness in the New York stock market was the main reason ascribed.

Initial prices in corn had a much wider range than usual and for the May delivery were as much as two cents apart for simultaneous trades in different parts of the pit. May started at $1.02 a bushel as compared with $1.04 1/2 at yesterday's finish. The corn market as a whole opened half cent to six cents lower with July at $1.50 1/2 to $1.57 1/2.

A big grain trade was in progress in all the grain pits. There had been a heavy accumulation of selling orders during the night, and individual operations counted for little. After the opening, however, commission houses buying increased, and a sharp rally followed. Price fluctuations were so rapid that black-board quotations were frequently far out of line with the actual market in the pit.

In the end the market was not greatly changed from yesterday's finish. Indications that foreigners were taking advantage of the scare, and were actively on the lookout for bargains in grain did a good deal to restore comparative confidence. The close, notwithstanding, was unsettled, varying from 1 7/8 cents net decline to 1 cent advance, with May $1.90 1/8 to $1.93 3/8, and July $1.58 1/4 to $1.59.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Efforts of an aggressive bear faction to effect additional depression of prices in the stock market today met with little success, although dealings in the early hours were again extensive at lower levels.

Supporting orders in large volume were placed later, however, erasing many losses and resulting in a number of substantial gains.

Ease of call money conveying assurance of sound financial conditions were the factor in the recovery. Sales were estimated at 1,500,000 shares.

Cummins Scores Wilson, Treaty; Boosts Rail Law

DES MOINES, IA., April 22.—President Wilson and the peace treaty were condemned and the railroad law commended by Senator Cummins, president pro tempore of the senate, in an address here today to the Iowa Republican convention.

Predicting Republican success next November, Senator Cummins said a Republican president should be chosen "because it is high time that the president should be a right-minded man."

"For surely," he continued, "eight years of mystery, of uncertainty, of inconsistency, of abnormality, of inconceivable twisting and turning in the office of the chief executive are punishment enough for all the sins and blunders we may have committed, and we have earned our emancipation."

Reiterating advocacy of anti-strike legislation, Mr. Cummins said the railroad board is "a tribunal which will render to railroad wage workers a surer and higher justice than they can ever hope to secure through a strike." With such a tribunal, he said the public in its need for uninterrupted transportation, was entitled to declare unlawful conspiracies of railroad workers "to coerce employers by inflicting upon an innocent public the infinite evils which spring from general cessation of transportation."

"The treaty of Versailles will be a campaign issue," said Mr. Cummins, who asserted it contained unconstitutional and treasonable provisions.

STRIKERS GET ULTIMATUM

COLUMBUS, O., April 22.—No change was noted in the switchmen's strike here today. The Pennsylvania road has given its working employees till this evening to return to work or forfeit their positions, while the Norfolk and Western and the Toledo and Ohio Central have given their men until tomorrow.

MARION, O., April 22.—Rushing to Pittsburgh to the bedside of his brother, who was reported dying, John M. Cary, local clothing merchant, died suddenly of heart trouble on a train just a few miles out of that city this morning. His brother, Robert Cary, died ten minutes afterwards.

Capt. Bennett of the Louisville, Ky., police force has turned his station into a place of worship every Thursday night. Farmers Asked To Revise Their Planting Plans

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 22.—Reports from the spring wheat regions of a plan for reduced acreage this year caused the department of agriculture to issue a statement today urging farmers to revise their planting plans.

Weather conditions and a shortage of farm labor have affected the planting but statistics presented by the department advised increased production because of the poor condition of the winter crop and the continued world demand for wheat.

The normal requirements for consumption and export are about 500,000,000 bushels. Of this amount only 483,617,000 bushels indicated from the winter wheat this year.

"The world demand it was pointed out, will be as great as usual and none can be expected from Australia because of a poor wheat year, and the disorganized transportation conditions makes improbable the movement of the 15,000,000 bushels Russia has announced she will have ready for export."

It was pointed out that the estimated 453,617,000 bushels of winter wheat may be even less because of winter killed fields and indications that the Russian fly will be unusually active through large areas. The grasshopper menace, the statement also said, is serious in a large part of the great plains belt.

CAILLAUX ESCAPES THE PENALTY OF FIRING SQUAD

PARIS, April 22.—The charges of high treason and intelligence with the enemy against former Premier Caillaux were eliminated by the high court of the senate today by a vote of 213 to 25. This eliminated the possibility of the death penalty being inflicted.

PARIS, April 22.—The high court of the senate convened at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon and immediately went into secret discussion as to whether Joseph Caillaux, former premier of France, who has been on trial before it for several weeks, shall be acquitted or found guilty of high treason, intelligence with the enemy, commerce with the enemy or merely "defection."

Ballots will be taken on the foregoing charges in the order given, taking the greater degrees of the crime first.

BROADER POLICY BY ENGLAND TOWARD IRISH SINN FEIN

LONDON, April 22.—England's new Irish policy may be something broader than the existing home rule scheme and not unlike dominion home rule, says the Daily Sketch.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, recently named chief secretary for Ireland and General Sir Cecil F. N. Macready, the newly appointed military commander there, are said to favor moderation, and are making attempts to determine just what the Sinn Fein wants. A favorable atmosphere is being created and the government, the newspaper says, will go farther to reach a settlement than is generally believed.

Newspaper reports have recently speculated on the nature of the policy initiated by the government and it seems the first steps in carrying out present plans will be taken as soon as Sir Hamar is re-elected a member of parliament for Sunderland. Viscount Field Marshal French, lord lieutenant for Ireland will resign, says the Sketch and a clean sweep will be made of officials in Dublin castle who are charged with being largely responsible for errors which have led to the present situation in the island. Thus the way to harmonious cooperation will be paved, the newspaper asserts.

Ray denied that he assaulted the girl, the police said, but admitted he

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Reports both to the state and war departments today continued to support the unofficial dispatches that have told of the rapidly increasing area of revolts in Mexico. Administration officials studied them carefully, but without betraying any indication that the position of this government would be other than that of an observer.

The movement begun by the secession of Sonora has gained the support of at least four other states, the adherence of various groups of federal forces and the promises by Villa, Manuel Palmer and one or two other minor rebel chiefs that they will join in the fight on Carranza, the reports showed.

So far as could be learned here Carranza has made no overtures to the American government for assistance either directly or indirectly.

The rulings which have prevented his government from getting arms and ammunition in the United States are still in effect. However, a request for permission to import war materials would cause no surprise. The presence of General Salvador Alvarado, as the unofficial representative of Alvaro Obregon, accepted leader of the new revolt, has not brought from the administration any sign of its willingness to recognize the belligerency of the anti-government group.

One small hope of an adjustment of the situation in Mexico was offered today in the announcement that a mission from Mexico City was on its way to Sonora for a conference with the leaders there. Members of that mission were reported to have held a conference with Carranza, but here it was regarded as doubtful if the secessionists would listen to any proposal made. Already, it was pointed out by those who have watched the growth of the movement, the revolt has spread over such territory and gained such support not only from partisans of Obregon but from those who have been in the field for many months as ordinary rebels and by units of the federal army, that even its leaders would have difficulty in checking it.

USE CAR TRACKS ON WHICH TO DRIVE AUTO; MACHINE HIT BY STREET CAR

A touring car owned and driven by Charles Sparks, steelworker, of Sciotoville, was badly damaged Tuesday night about 10:30 o'clock when his machine was struck by the Sciotoville street car just above Star Yards. A slide on the hill just this side of the N. and W. station at Sciotoville covered the paved pike, some of the dirt and small trees falling onto the street car tracks and B, and O. rail road track.

Sparks was on his way home from New Boston and when he reached the hill drove back to Star Yards and started to drive his machine to Sciotoville up the car tracks. He had progressed a short distance when his engine stopped. Realizing that he could not get the machine started in time to get out of the way of the car, Sparks went down the tracks to flag the car. His signals were not seen in time and the car crashed into the machine, the automobile being badly damaged. Sparks took the remainder of his machine to Sciotoville in pieces Wednesday.

The slide was cleared from the pike early Wednesday.

CAPTAIN EARNEST HILL FEELS LIKE NEW MAN

Popular Officer Was In Such Poor Health Before Taking Tanlac He Was Not Able To Report For Duty.

"I feel just like a new man since I began taking Tanlac and I am not only willing, but I am anxious to tell other people what this medicine has done for me," said Captain Ernest H. Hill, Portland, Me., recently.

Captain Hill is in command of the 1st Marine Battalion, 1st Marine Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif. He has been in the service for ten years and is held in high regard as an officer and citizen by all who know him.

"I have suffered from indigestion and stomach trouble for the past eight years," continued Captain Hill, "and at the time I started taking Tanlac I was in such a weakened condition I could hardly stand up. When I walked I would actually stagger like a drunken man and, at times, would have to hold onto something to keep from falling. After every meal I would simply suffer torment. My food would sour and I would swell up so with gas I could hardly get my breath."

"I would also have awful smothering spells at night and sometimes I would have to get up to get my breath. Lots of times I would have to open the windows and doors to let in fresh air, or go into the open air in order to get my breath. I could not find anything to do me any good, and along toward the last I became so weak and before I could not do my work. "Five bottles of Tanlac have made a wonderful change in my condition. It helped me from the very first dose and now I feel as good as I did when I was twenty years old. I sleep fine and have a fine appetite and just feel like a new man in every way. I am now able to be on deck every day, ready for duty."

Tanlac is sold in Portsmouth by The Fisher & Stretch Pharmacy and leading druggists in every town.

Council Fails To Pass Ordinance For Attorney Fees In The Waterworks Case

Only a few matters were considered by Council last night with the proceedings being halted and an adjournment taken until Monday evening in order to allow the members to attend the political meeting at the high school and get a glimpse of General Wood.

The offering of an estimate of $1,500 by Solicitor Skelton for expenses of attorneys to attend the taking of depositions on behalf of the plaintiff in the $40,000 damage suit of the John H. McGowan company, Cincinnati, against the city, brought on quite a discussion during which Members Osborn, Westbrook, Hunsan and Bennett went on record opposing expending that amount of the city's money or any sum whatever for the privilege of cross examining the expert and trained witnesses of the plaintiff.

Solicitor Skelton declared that an appropriation was absolutely essential if the city proposed to contest the case otherwise a judgment for the plaintiff was a foregone conclusion he said as the city had no testimony to counter the evidence of the defendant.

Member Osborn and his three colleagues stated they had supported the legislation which would have effected a settlement of the McGowan claim for $25,000 on the recommendation of the attorneys for the city and that it was voted by Mayor Gableman.

It was pointed out that some suggestions had been made that there was fraud in connection with the water works contract and this led to a demand that the mayor or anybody else having information of such character to make disclosure, as a matter of duty.

It was proposed to pass the measure over the veto but that was dropped and did not come to a vote.

Judge Harry Ball appeared and made application on behalf of New Boston council for Portsmouth to furnish fire protection for that village. He said that the fire apparatus owned by the village was in bad condition and that in as much as the prospects are good for the village soon becoming a part of this city through annexation proceedings the village officials had decided that it would be cheaper if such arrangement could be made than to buy equipment.

The matter was referred to the fire committee and safety director to carry on negotiations for such a deal, and the solicitor for legislation.

Service Director Gergens reported the city water works was without the services of a chief engineer, John Buck having resigned and declared he was unable to secure a competent man for the salary of $100 a month. He urged that the salary be increased to $200 and his recommendation was referred to the water committee for a report.

On the recommendation of the service director an estimate of the cost of lowering the permanent water main at Danforth Hill was ordered.

A number of petitions asking for improvements were presented and these were referred to the street committee for investigation.

Construction of sanitary sewers were petitioned for by property owners in the vicinity of Front and Union, Highland and North avenues, Grandview and Twentieth streets and Twenty-first street.

Formal application to pave Cole street as well as an alley between Fifth and Sixth, Offshore to Adams street and the alley at the rear of the Pure Milk company depot were received.

A verbal petition to open up Harvard Place, Gallia to Ninth street was sent to the street committee for investigation as was also an appeal to repair the Boulevard road which was described as almost impassable in places.

AUTO BACKS INTO POLE

C. T. Oakley, instructor in animal husbandry, Ohio State university, will be here Saturday to hold a meeting at 1 p. m. in the Security Bank assembly room where he will talk to members of the Boone County Calf club. He will talk on the raising of pure bred calves. Every calf club member should try to be present.

JACKSON NEWS

JACKSON, April 22.—Winlow S. Lincoln, who, with his wife, formerly Miss Frances Jones, and young daughter, Ann, came here to visit the family of John E. Jones, has gone to California, where he will locate. His wife and daughter will follow later.

Gililand-Livingstone Wedding. Lafayette Gililand of Chillicothe came to Jackson to wed Miss Ortha Livingstone, April 19.

Opera House Changes Hands. Mitchell P. Tope has bought the business of Davis Brothers, grocery and meat men at Oak Hill and will conduct the same business at the same stand, for he has also bought the building of their father, John A. Davis. The second story is used as an opera house. Tope sold his old stand to Walker Jaynes.

Marion Buckley Dies. William Harrison Buckley, son of John Buckley, the pioneer, died at his home in Franklin and his funeral was held at Zora.

Michael Dies At Columbus. Edward Michael, long a dry goods merchant in Jackson, but formerly a singer in the choir, died April 18 at a sanatorium near Columbus, after months of long suffering. Death was caused by his own hand. He leaves a wife and three sons to mourn; the oldest son, William, is a veteran of the World War.

Beman's Have a Son. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. David Beman, Jr., who is also a grandson of ex-Senator Maters Beman of Centerville.

Oak Hill's New Movie. The new movie, selected by Henry Thomas and his brother-in-law Davis at Oak Hill for a movie theatre is rapidly approaching completion and will be opened next month. It will have a seating capacity of four hundred and ninety, more than any theatre in Jackson.

Mixing At Wellston. A peculiar political situation has developed at Wellston through the division made for state delegate districts. It appears that the city was divided into two districts, but when the search light was turned on it was found that the two Harding candidates, Jerry Morrow and Ben Wiley, had been placed in the same district, while George Davis, owner of the Sentinel is in the other and unopposed. An effort was made to have the lines changed at a meeting of the supervisors called for the purpose, but the board divided two to two at first, and finally one republican joined his democratic colleagues in voting against a rearrangement of lines. This enforces a conflict between two Harding men if both remain in the field.

Wholesale Home Buying. The housing problem in Jackson is leading to a wholesale buying of homes. When Ben Pfannkuch bought a cottage belonging to L. W. French, deceased, Richard Martin bought the old H. C. Summers' homestead, to get a house to move into, which forced Virgil Evans to move and he bought the Jerry Stevenson cottage, which led Stevenson to buy the former Ivor Jones home, which forced the Humphreys family to move and they go to McArthur. This is only one of many such chains that have occurred in the past few months.

New Ward. The second story porch of Hempstead hospital has been converted into an additional ward and it will take care of from four to six patients. Safety Director St. Strauss said today. It has been enclosed and nicely equipped.

Back From Trip. John Smith, local N. & W. passenger agent is home from a business trip to Cincinnati, Springfield and Dayton.

On Way Home. H. M. Glockner, former Market street grocer is expected home in a few days from Emporia and Atchison, Kansas where he has been visiting relatives.

At Steel Plant. James Duncan of Eleventh street has taken a job in the Whitaker-Glassner plant.

Once You Try Mazola You Will Never Go Back to Lard or Butter for Cooking—or Olive Oil for Dressings

Of interest to every wide-awake housewife are these important facts about the general use, the quality and the unusual economy of Mazola.

Deep Frying

No fat excels Mazola for deep frying. It is far better and a great deal more economical than lard or compounds. Mazola is 100% pure vegetable fat. It contains no moisture. Butter and Lard contain moisture. The same lot of Mazola can be used over and over again—even after frying fish and onions. Merely straining makes it perfectly fresh for use as a shortening. It carries no odors or flavors from the foods cooked in it and does not smoke up your kitchen.

Shortening

The purity and richness of Mazola best demonstrates itself in the fact that $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ less Mazola is required than that of butter or lard. This means that your cakes and pie crust will not only be light, rich and easily digested but will cost you less to prepare. Being an oil, the tiresome "creaming-in process" is eliminated. Mazola is always ready for instant use.

Salad Dressings

Thousands of Italians, who certainly know olive oil, use Mazola. Not only because it costs about half that of the best olive oil, but because of its richness, quality and purity. For French Dressing, Mazola blends readily—and mayonnaise made with Mazola will keep for weeks without separating.

Important to Housewives

One of the most severe comparative tests ever used on a cooking fat gives unqualified FIRST HONORS to Mazola.

Understand the remarkable economy and high quality of Mazola by these figures:

FRENCH FRIED POTATOES
2 lbs. of Mazola fried	25 lbs. Potatoes
2 lbs. of Lard " "	8 " "
2 lbs. of Compound " "	11½ " "

Note: Mazola goes over three times as far as lard; is twice as economical as compound.

FISH
2 lbs. of Mazola fried	25 lbs. Fish
2 lbs. of Lard " "	15 " "
2 lbs. of Compound " "	20 " "

Note: Compare the figures yourself. Even with frying fish Mazola does not smoke up your kitchen.

DOUGHNUTS
2 lbs. of Mazola fried	216 Doughnuts
2 lbs. of Lard " "	144 " "
2 lbs. of Compound " "	168 " "

Note: All doughnuts were the same size. Mazola-made doughnuts are more easily digested.

P. S. Reasons for these remarkable figures are explained in column to the left. Read it.

BLACK HEAD
You don't love the boy. You are just peevish because he goes with some other girl instead of trying to go with you. I suppose you thought he would go and stub his toe because you turned him down, and when he didn't you are "all mad." You can apologize if you want to, but I doubt if you will ever get him back again. Don't worry about the girl not speaking to you. You will never miss a friend like her.

Miss Wise—Please give me the names of papers published in Wheeling, W. Va. Where can I obtain them? Dolly, don't you ever get tired of answering "girl's" silly questions concerning their "fellows"? I think some are very disgusting to read. At that you surely give them good advice.

SOCIETY

A very pretty wedding took place at Wheeling Tuesday morning, at 8 o'clock, when Miss Eden Will, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Will, became the bride of Mr. Frank Bihl. The marriage service was read by Father Carey at the St. Peter's Catholic Church. The bride was attended in a wedding gown of white satin and georgette, with a veil which fell to the hem of her dress, and was caught with white ribbons. She carried a prayer-book and rosary. The attendants were: Miss Emma Bihl, in a becoming toilet of lavender, with hat and corsage of sweet peas of the same shade, and Mr. Frank Will, brother of the bride. Mrs. Emma Lang played the wedding march. A reception and dinner followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, where fifty guests were bidden. The bride's table was made beautiful with sweet peas, carnations, and the wedding cake, from which pieces were cut as favors. The happy couple will go to housekeeping in Setonville. The groom is the son of Mr. Charles Bihl and is a popular employee at the Terminals.

The Wednesday Afternoon Sewing Club was delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Arthur Hanson, 1404 Offshore street, Wednesday afternoon. Miss Kate McConnell will be hostess of the next meeting.

The Finch Club members were guests of Mrs. Louella Wendelen, Wednesday afternoon, at her home, 410 Glover street. Daily refreshments were served at the conclusion of the afternoon's pleasures. Those present included: Mesdames John T. Breese, Charles Hauck, J. M. Graham, W. L. Hayles and R. D. Cunningham.

Meet me at Nre's fountain.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Blusified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Blusified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

Tan chamber embroidered in blue and red striped resembler or checked gingham combined with white pique or cambric, would be attractive for this model.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps and 1 cent extra for postage.

A few drops of "Get-It" quenches corn pain like water quenches fire. Gives you immediate relief.

"Get-It" Stops It Out

The corn begins to lose its grip at once. In a day or two it is so loose that you can lift it off, roots and all, without thumb and finger. That's the last of it, as millions have found out. It is the simple, effective and common-sense way to be rid of corns.

"Get-It" the never-failing, guaranteed, money-back corn remover, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mfg. by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

The girls of the fitting departments of the Irving Drew Shoe Company gave a six o'clock surprise dinner on Tuesday evening, April 20th, in honor of the birthday anniversary of their superintendent, Mr. Elmer E. Bailey. A birthday cake with the required number of candles adorned the center of the beautifully decorated table, which was loaded with good things.

Mr. T. C. Lloyd, general manager of the Irving Drew Company, presented Mr. Bailey with a beautiful bouquet of carnations, with appropriate remarks, to which Mr. Bailey responded in a fitting manner.

After dinner was served, several of the invited guests, including Mr. T. C. Lloyd, manager, Mr. J. Warren Murray, quality superintendent, and Mr. Elmer E. Bailey, superintendent of fitting, gave interesting talks, after which a splendid program was rendered by talent taken entirely from among the fitting department employees.

After wishing Mr. Bailey many more happy birthdays, the guests departed, each pronouncing the occasion a delightful one.

ROAD NEAR LUCASVILLE UNDER WATER

J. W. Appel, president of the county commissioners stated this morning upon his arrival from Lucasville that the water was over the road leading from Lucasville to the West Side and that the road had been seriously damaged.

As a result of it being submerged and water being over the road, West Side residents are cut off from the city except by boat or by trains as the N. & W. trains are not affected by the high stages in the Ohio and Scioto rivers.

Many ferry crews appeared on the Scioto bridge this morning, and kept busy ferrying people from the city to Union Mills and from there to Portsmouth.

GEN. WOOD IS WELCOMED TO PORTSMOUTH BY A CROWD THAT FILLS AUDITORIUM TO OVERFLOWING

Distinguished Visitor Makes A Fine Impression; Delivers Impressive Talk

General Leonard Wood will always have occasion to remember his visit to Portsmouth last night so fervent was the applause he received and so genuinely enthusiastic was his reception.

Greeted by an audience that taxed to overflowing the capacity of the High School Auditorium, his salute, with his beautiful tributes to the memories of beloved William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt made a most favorable impression upon his large audience. General Wood is not as good an orator as he is a fighter or an organizer. But he has the happy faculty of saying tersely what he intends to say and is forceful, able and confident. His modest manner, soldierly bearing and his convincing style of conveying to his auditors just what he means, are characteristics of this real American. There are no frills to his talk. His delivery is clean cut, circumstantial clear and distinct and the liberal applause he received last night must have been very gratifying to him and his faithful wife, who occupied a seat on the stage near her illustrious husband.

Before General Wood was introduced by Hon. Henry T. Bannock, chairman of the meeting, W. H. Boyd of Cleveland and E. P. Turner of Columbus, Wood delegates-at-large were introduced and made splendid talks.

"They tell us that we cannot elect a military man for president," Mr. Boyd said. "Well, history shows us unequivocally that 14 of our 20 presidents were military men. It is time that we put some man in the White House, who will accomplish something other than to write nice phrases. We need a man there with stamina and courage. Mr. Wood is the logical candidate. I feel that he will be our next president." Mr. Boyd's will be our next president.

"General Wood's record of accomplishment in Cuba alone should be sufficient to elect him our next president," Mr. Turner told his audience. He is the right man for the job. He has all the qualifications to make good. He will give us an honest government and will build up constructive ideals. It is up to the citizens of Ohio to go to the polls next week and vote for General Wood," Mr. Turner said.

Time after time General Wood's talk was punctuated with sincere applause. He paid due tribute to the soldier, sailor and seafarer for the part he took in the world war. He also paid his respects to the profiteers and told his audience that the motto of this country for every individual should be "I serve, I stand."

"It is not time for loose talking or shallow thinking. We want no loafing in the dark. We want to lead steadily, our feet on the ground, our eyes on God," General Wood said and his words of admonition were followed by rousing applause.

He was especially pleased with the cordiality with which he was received. His greeting was honest and sincere. The great soldier and fighter was accorded no ovation that he will always remember.

Pays Respects to Veterans of Other Wars

General Wood in his address said: "I am glad to have the opportunity to say something to you about the issues of the hour; but before doing so I want to pay my respects to the veterans of the Civil War, the Spanish War Veterans, and to the large number of ex-servicemen and American Legion men who are here."

"I am in uniform myself and I shall be in uniform on all occasions throughout this campaign. I have no apologies to make for the uniform of the United States or for appearing in it. There is a disposition now to point the finger of scorn at the uniform. The man who does it, or the man who apologizes for the uniform, or for wearing it, is the man who insults the memory of every American in France. He is a man who strives to dishonor the memory of every American who has died in uniform from the Revolution of Independence down to the last skirmish in the World War."

You should respect these men who served overseas and at home. They have served their country in time of peace and in time of trouble, and they have shown to you in a manner of respect that you, in your manner of respect, have gained an opportunity for advancement through service. You want to respect the uniform because it is a badge you will gain respect for as a nation at home and abroad. It is our country's uniform. Just as the stars and stripes is the flag of our country and not of a state, the uniform is the uniform of our country and not of an individual.

As we go through the war so far, the only thing that is concerned with many of our problems is the fact that we are in a difficult position. We are particularly serious if we will to meet them as we have always met the problems confronting us as a nation.

It is no time for loose talking or shallow thinking; we want no blind faith in the dark. We want to stand on our feet on the ground, our eyes on God, our ideal high, and our feet on the ground. We are in a position with each department functioning within its own limits. We want to stand for law and order, rights of fight on constructive measures, measures which look to good administration of the government and the happiness and well-being of our people.

Want To Build Up Sound Administration

We want to build up a sound administration in Washington and everywhere else. We want to put in power men who have real administrative ability. There is no man so dangerous in public office as the man who thinks he knows it all. A good administrator or executive officer, no matter what his position, should be possessed of two qualifications or instincts; first, to immediately surround himself with the best obtainable men, realizing that, however, expert he may be in some things he cannot be expert in all; and second, the ability to co-ordinate the efforts of his subordinates. Give them a large measure of discretion and hold them responsible for results. In other words, it is well for men in high administrative positions to remember the old English saying: "If you have a good watch dog don't bark yourself. At least don't bark all the time."

Take Lincoln for example, with Seward and Stanton, both political enemies of his in a way. He had them with him not for the sake of personal companionship, but for the purpose of winning the war and saving the union.

They had their own opinions and you know how Stanton dominated Lincoln in many things pertaining to the conduct of the war. You recall Seward's strong hand in the conduct of our national government. Or take Roosevelt with John Hay's commanding influence.

Both Lincoln and Roosevelt were doing something for America. Conscious of the integrity of their own purposes, they were not afraid of bringing about them the ablest men of their day. They knew that the work of these great men would be their work; that their results would be theirs as well, and they got results. And so today we must have men of that type in high positions. We have got to put in the ablest men we can get in this country because the world problems are going to be rather serious.

We must establish an absolutely economical administration of the government, cutting out every unnecessary expense. We must work for simpler and more economical methods of administration, cutting out unnecessary officials, boards and commissions. We must get rid of the great army of the salaried unemployed which we built up during the war. You will find governmental office buildings and office forces increasing and spreading in every direction. The expense of government is increasing enormously without any corresponding increase in efficiency. All these things indicate lack of sound administrative principles, the results of which constitute an enormous and unnecessary financial burden upon our people.

We want to get back to an efficient administration of the government. We want an executive budget system. That is nothing new; it is very old with other nations. I used it myself twenty years ago in Cuba with great success. It is a budget system in which all the estimates of the various departments are co-ordinated and combined and then presented to congress by the president as a single concrete estimate. Coupled with a statement as to our estimated revenues and the resources available. If we establish such a system it will be a long step forward in the direction of strong national economy. Then again I think we ought to have a new condition established, in other words a policy and procedure whereby all members of the cabinet may be present in person on the floors of congress to defend their own estimates; their part of the budget.

Now Is Time To Push American Business

Now is the time to push forward American business. We have never had such an opportunity since we were a nation. The great producing nations of middle Europe are at a standstill. Production has stopped. The great trade areas lie open to us. The German commercial interests and the German banking system are dormant now in Central and South America; the other European trade agencies are largely quiescent. Now is our opportunity to build up new trade areas, extend them and establish new trade routes.

We must get busy and build up a sound foreign commercial policy. We must spread the war burden over a longer period of years. The heavy war taxes and excess profit taxes are closing a very strong slowing up influence on American business at a time when we should extend our business. We ought to be pushing our business all over the world.

Of course, home consumption demands are very heavy, incident to the fact that we were producing war materials during the war and not producing for home consumption, but that situation will soon be changed. We must be ready for the world competition which is coming.

We want to build up a sound foreign commercial policy because the United States has no foreign trade policy. Heretofore few measures have been adopted to promote foreign trade. As a rule our policy has been simply to leave business alone. We have reached a stage where we must formulate a policy or suffer the consequences of our neglect. The war has changed our economic position. We have changed from a debtor to a creditor nation. We have repurchased many of our securities held in foreign lands and our banking institutions have extended credits for goods purchased in the United States or have loaned funds for building factories in foreign countries, and finally our government has loaned enormous amounts to foreign governments. Our banking institutions have established enormous branches abroad. We have become a shipping nation.

Out of this lack and uncertainty of policy one thing seems fairly definite; that we shall one way or another maintain a substantial Merchant Marine under the American flag. We must remember that ships have not only a commercial but a political importance in international affairs. Our export trade has grown in volume and variety. Inability of European nations to supply buyers in neutral markets led them to turn to our manufacturers and production here has been enormously stimulated. The effect of the war upon American industry has been constructive and has developed markets for goods both in the home and foreign markets. Industrially we have made great gains over our foreign competitors. These changes in our economic condition have naturally focused the interest of many of our people upon foreign nations. Their policies are no longer a matter of indifference to us. There is much danger in longer neglecting to formulate a definite foreign commercial policy. Delay may lead us into difficulty. Great business interests create forces whose effects they do not always realize.

We should adopt measures and negotiate treaties which will give our business men a fair and equal chance in international competition and at the same time protect commercial interests from throwing us into difficulties with other peoples. We should avoid an aggressive imperialistic policy. We should secure the establishment of a Merchant Marine. We should encourage our export trade and protect our foreign investments.

Our consulates ought to be filled by men who are thoroughly familiar with the business and the needs and demands of the countries they go to, and who know what this country can do to meet those demands. We want to have commercial attaches at our diplomatic posts, at our embassies and legations. We want to begin systematically to develop our foreign trade. South American and Central America lie open to us and the door in the far east is not yet closed, although it is being pushed shut by the tremendous commercial development of Japan. England, black white by the war, with her treasury depleted, is nevertheless doing everything humanly possible to push forward her commerce, to retain her old trade routes and gain new ones because she is intelligent enough, and has had experience enough to know, that her future development, power and security depend upon keeping her trade areas and markets now.

Must Build Its Merchant Marines

We must look ahead. We must build up an American Merchant Marine. We built fifteen million dead weight tons of shipping during the war, more than the total commercial tonnage lost by Great Britain in that time. It cost us about $20 a ton to build, or about three times as much as it would have cost before the war. But it was a war measure; the money is spent; it has gone over the dam; you cannot get it back. Forget it, but keep the ships under the American flag. Don't let them be sold to any foreign government or firm.

We need the ships as a reserve of the navy. We need a merchant marine to furnish us with roads over the ocean. Send your goods abroad in your own ships and your trade secrets are guarded. Send them abroad in foreign ships and you advertise your foreign markets and they are then quickly taken advantage of by your competitors.

We now have the ships and they are two ways in which we can turn them over to American shipping concerns. One is for the government to lease the ships to American shipping firms, on terms which will be a great inducement to them to take them and thus enable our people to compete successfully with other nations. Another way would be to sell the ships to American concerns under terms which will make them highly attractive. There are not enough shipping firms in America, however, to buy them all, but between these two methods we ought to see to it that these ships are retained under the American flag and that our flag is kept on the ocean. For two and one-half generations our flag has particularly been off the ocean on commercial ships. Now is our chance.

Pleased With The Meeting

"It was one of the most satisfactory meetings we have had anywhere," Nicholas Roosevelt, secretary to General Wood said last night.

"It was a corker and argues for our success in Southern Ohio," W. H. Boyd, delegate-at-large said.

"I never saw anything like it on our present swing through Ohio," E. P. Turner said.

the individual rights of property and the rights of mankind, holding on to the old tradition and policies which have made us what we are and brought us to our present state of greatness.

We want to unite our people in the common support of our national policies. There is no more dangerous class of men in public life today than those politicians who are seeking to gain votes by arraying class against class. They are never loyal Americans. They are always self seekers at the expense of national solidarity and national safety.

This is equally true of those who try to array one religious group against another. We know no religious distinction in this country, and we should know none. The only thing we should impress upon our people is that each and every man, woman and child shall have a religion which they live up to and adhere to, for there is no one thing more important to a nation than religion. We should not question their right to follow any religious group they wish to follow, but we should urge them to be faithful to their religion. A nation without a religion is a nation in its moral decadence, and moral decadence always precedes physical and industrial decadence.

Should Forget All About the Myth

No American worthy of the name would ever resort to playing upon racial or religious prejudice in America in order to gain votes. We want to consolidate and thoroughly unite this great mass of people which constitutes the American nation, the elements of which have come from every blood strain on earth. The war has helped to fuse us into one homogeneous mass of Americans and we want to forget that there ever was any such thing as a hyphen in America. We are all Americans. Every man, woman and child who did his or her best to win the war is an American no matter what their blood strain may be. Let us forget the hyphen, and start fresh as all Americans. We know no religious or class distinctions. We only demand one qualification and that is absolute loyalty to the United States.

The Republican party is back in power in both houses of Congress and it will soon be, I believe, in general control throughout the United States. It has a great responsibility. It must not try to win the coming political contest by advertising the mistakes of the opposition. During the war the Republican party submerged itself absolutely; subordinated itself to the well-being of the country; supported the party in power without question. It did things which were contrary at times to its own policy, but it co-operated and co-operated in every possible way to win the war.

Now it is coming into the field again with its old constructive spirit, the old spirit of leadership, and in the light which is coming there should be no dependence for winning upon the mistakes of the other party. We should forget them, and if we remember them at all it should only be as lessons to guide us against their repetition in the future. Our road lies ahead, not behind; and we must win this coming

River Is Rising Slowly; Has Inundated Towpath

(BULLETIN)

At 2:30 this afternoon the Ohio river registered about 46 feet and is rising less than two inches an hour.

River at Portsmouth will continue to rise and will reach a crest of between 47 and 48 feet Friday. This was the ten o'clock report received by Mr. Winter from Weather Forecaster Wrennau, Cincinnati.

The river came up 31 inches from six o'clock last night until seven this morning. The rate of rise from five last night until seven this morning was 2 1-4 inches per hour.

At 7 o'clock this morning the Ohio river registered 44.7 here and is rising a little over two inches an hour. At 7 o'clock Wednesday morning the river registered 33.8.

Water began to reach the low spots of the Towpath leading to the West Side from the city this morning and it is submerged, but not to any great depth. A number of machines drove across it early this morning, but were forced to drive through pools of water in the low places.

From 7 o'clock this morning to 9:30 the river here rose four-tenths of a foot.

Scots Falling At Columbus
COLUMBUS, O., April 22—Practically all danger of a flood here had passed today. The Scioto river was at 13 feet early today, a drop of two feet since 10 o'clock last night.

Expect About 53 Feet At Cincinnati
CINCINNATI, O., April 22—The Ohio river continued to rise slowly here today, but the local weather bureau said danger of a disastrous flood had passed and that the crest stage on the present rise would not exceed 53 feet. This is three feet above the flood line. The stage of the river at 8 a. m. today was 51.8. The tributaries of the Ohio river were all falling today and no serious damage is reported in the valleys of the Big and Little Miami, Millcreek or the Whitewater river.

Crest stages at other places in the Cincinnati district would be from 40 to 47 feet, the weather forecaster announced.

Not Alarmed About a Flood

COLUMBUS, O., April 22—Ohio rivers were still bank full today and many of them have overflowed adjacent lowlands, but there has been, and probably will not be any destructive flood conditions within the state, according to a statement given out today by the United States weather bureau here.

The statement declares that there may be a further rise in the lower ends of the rivers, but as there have been no further heavy rains and as none is in sight, no trouble is looked for.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried poppers, bismuth, soda, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little disurated magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, oxide or milk, but the pure disurated magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoon of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little disurated magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything a dining table without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover the continued use of the disurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

EXPRESS THANKS FOR MANY FAVORS

At the General Wood headquarters today thanks were expressed to the board of education for the use of the High School auditorium, Prof. Appel for the many favors he granted, and the River City Band for its services. "These favors helped to make the meeting the success it was. It was a corking good rally, one like we use to have in this city," Henry T. Bannon said today. "I felt it would be well attended but the audience was much larger than I had anticipated."

Lifeless Body Of Otway Man Found Dangling From A Tree

Worry over the death of his wife and son is thought to have caused Edward Coleman, well-known farmer of Brackin Ridge, near Otway, to take his life Wednesday by hanging himself.

His lifeless form was found by his son, Charles Coleman, about three o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the body hanging to a large limb of the tree more than twenty feet from the ground. Mr. Coleman left the house of his son about eight o'clock Wednesday morning and when he failed to come to the house for dinner, a search was started, relatives fearing that he had probably suffered a heart attack and had died suddenly.

The search ended when the son located the body hanging from the tree which is considerable distance from the house and down over a hill. Mr. Coleman had climbed into the tree and after fastening the rope about his neck and to one of the limbs, stepped off the limb on which he was standing. Death must have been almost instant, the respondent man probably taking his life shortly after leaving the house in the morning.

A coroner was called from West Union and according to him the man had been dead several hours. The body was cut down and taken to the house.

Mr. Coleman was about 58 years of age and had been a resident of Brackin Ridge and vicinity for some years. Brackin Ridge is about six miles southwest of Otway and just across the Scioto county line. Until several months ago when he went back to the old home place to live with his son, Mr. Coleman had been making his home with his married daughters in the vicinity of Otway. The wife of Mr. Coleman passed away several years ago in Athens Hospital, and a son passed away in a Gallop Hospital several years ago. These deaths had seemed to worry Mr. Coleman a great deal of late and this constant worry is given as the cause of suicide.

Besides the son, Clarence, four daughters, Mrs. Alfred Jones, near Otway; Mrs. Stockton Jones, Wamsleyville; Mrs. Ben Cross, Seventh street, this city; and Mrs. Frank Smith, Otway, survive.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cross, of 709 Seventh street, received word of the death of her father last night and left early this morning for the old home place.

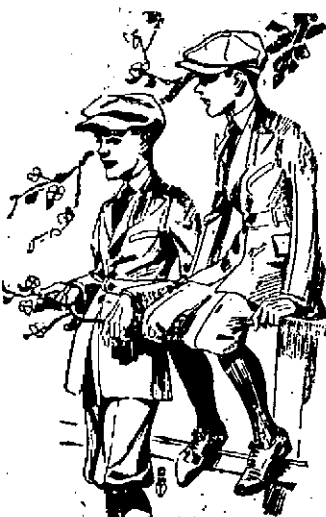

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at Mt. Unger, near Otway.

The Markets

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, April 22.—Stocks were nervous and unsettled at the opening of today's session, but many of the speculative issues, which sustained severe losses in yesterday's violent decline recorded substantial recoveries. General Motors made an initial gain of 5 points, which soon was extended to 10 points and United States Steel, Baldwin Locomotive, American Woolen, United States Rubber, Pressed Steel Car, Vanadium and Republic rose 1 to 3 points. These advances were offset by further reactions of 1 to 5 points for Mexican petroleum, Lackawanna steel, shipping and sugar. United States steel also sold a fraction under yesterday's low quotations. Liberty bonds were in process of further liquidation with new low records for the second 4 1/4's, third 4 1/4's and fourth 4 1/4's.

With the progress of the session, the professional character of the market became more obvious. Shorts directed their attack largely against United States steel, which was offered in round amounts down to 90 1/2, a loss of 2 1/4 points. General motors forfeited its partial recovery and other shares of yesterday's reaction established lower records. The decline was orderly, in contrast to yesterday's excited dealings, but little support was manifested except at marked concessions.

Pressure relaxed appreciably before noon as call money opened at seven percent. Sales up to that time approximated 1,000,000 shares.

The market made a sharp recovery at noon, sentiment being favorably influenced by the maintenance of the 7 percent rate for call money.

On the rally, to which the shorts made involuntary contributions, actual gains of 3 to 14 points over yesterday's final prices were made by general motors, Baldwin Locomotive, United States rubber and minor steels and equipments.

Trading became dull at midday after a morning turnover exceeding one million shares.

Stocks were heavy to weak in the early period of today's active session but recovered very generally later. Easy money and steady buying of standard issues caused heavy covering of shorts. Sales approximated 1,800,000 shares.

The closing was firm.

GENERAL LEONARD WOOD

It was a splendid, representative audience that greeted General Leonard Wood, candidate for the Republican nomination for president, when he appeared at the High School auditorium Wednesday night. And it was the speech of a clean minded, four-square, straight-forward American citizen, that General Wood gave his audience. He talked plain, straight facts as he saw them, he clothed his views in simple language, he did not dodge or hesitate at making clear his stand upon the great questions that will predominate in the coming campaign.

General Wood may or may not be nominated for president by the Republican party. He may or may not be elected, in the event of his nomination. But no one who heard him on Wednesday evening left the hall with any misgivings as to General Wood's ability to handle the duties of the presidency in a satisfactory manner, should it be written in the cards of fate that he shall occupy the most exalted position in the gift of the American people.

ALWAYS THE FUTURE

FOR several years it has been the half wise policy of the county commissioners to construct bridges and culverts of a permanent character, that is, as a rule replacing the old wooden ones with iron or concrete.

This policy was well enough as far as it went, but the flaw in it was that it didn't go far enough—into the future.

That is to say it did not make sufficient provision against changing conditions.

The freshets of the first of the week developed the fact that lands are constantly being cleared up, or more relentlessly robbed of the timber and the result is that whenever rain falls the shed is quicker and this being less obstructed by growth of any sort, precipitates the water into their gathering courses in greater volume, causing a more rapid and destructive flood.

Quite a number of small bridges and culverts lying down stream show the country has been building well, but not altogether wisely. It may be that it will never reach the ultimate in the later. In a country of high and steep hills, such as this, where the ground takes up scant moisture, it is hard to provide entirely sufficiently against the wild wash of the waters, especially when there is always insistent and insatiable demand against limited, yes, meagre means.

EXCEPTIONAL BUT STILL UNUSUAL

AKRON is disappointed over her census count. This shows how hard it is to please some people. The town shows a phenomenal growth, jumping from 69,047 to 208,047 for a gain of 201.09 per cent.

But Akron was expecting more and would not have been content with anything below 250,000. Yet, she is hovering around third place for the entire state and that is something to be content with and to brag about.

The genuine surprise in the bureau's announcements of Wednesday was the showing of Mansfield. She is a good, solid town, but is not generally regarded as particularly strong industrially and therefore not expected to do anything real handsome in the way of development. Yet she makes an advance of 7,056 and can now rate her population as officially 27,824, a growth that ought not to leave any flies in the ointment.

It is an interesting coincidence, to which we have before called attention to, that Mansfield, Marion and Portsmouth in population and in the distinct character and circulation of their papers, have for two decades been esteemed in the same class and in a way rivals. At the start Portsmouth in population and newspaper circulation ranked last of the trio. By 1920 she was first in both respects. She, in the matter of newspaper circulation is still kept well ahead by The Times and there appears no danger from the Mansfield figures that she will drop back otherwise, since Marion is not at all likely to pass her and she can't reach a place to the fore of the Peerless. Anyway, with the territory but recently annexed and New Boston and Solonville coming in Portsmouth will have to look to the rear to see the figures of the other two.

A PLEASANT DIVERSION

AL the creeks and runs surged and roared out of their banks Tuesday and sympathetically the Ohio rose with a novel rapidity, following a precipitation that has seldom been equaled for the hours it prevailed.

Strange to say, notwithstanding the abnormal condition, the usual alarms and predictions of a flood were escaped. There didn't seem to be any public concern and even the Old River Man and the Weather Man were of one voice and there wasn't anything to be afraid of.

Let us take it for granted they are right for once. This spring has been one continuous round of wretchedness and disappointment. Wednesday, there was such a sun as was a delight to see and the weather was in tune with the season far advanced to its end.

It is high time the plague ceases and "us" farmers be allowed to get into our fields otherwise than with gumboots or a johnboat. The town folks have got to eat, no matter how much they do kick about high prices of food stuffs.

CAN NOT GET TOGETHER

SEEMINGLY reliable information from Washington holds out no hope that the peace resolution, that was so promptly projected through the house, on the defeat of the peace treaty, will ever be passed. The senate stands in the way.

There was a partisan purpose lying behind its birth in the house, but the senate got itself in such a wrangle and jangle over the original measure that it is divided three ways on the resolution and there does not appear any probability of its ever coming to agreement there with the lower branch.

Thus all signs point to the fact that the league of nations and the treaty may be put up to the people for indirect decision at the November election.

Signs are not lacking, however, that the people have worn to utter weariness of the issue by the long contention in the senate and they are not disposed to regard it as a determining factor.

"Of all the foolishness and freakishness the country was ever plagued with that of the 'overall' is the absurd of all. It is disgusting the way newspapers and men will let a lot of cheap New York actors put it over on them.

Got a new revolution on down in Mexico. No, not disheartening. It must have been almost a whole day since the preceding one was heard from.

The DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

IN NESSA'S STUDIO

June 22.—When I was buying some brushes in a little art store today who walked into me but Nessa. She was giggling hard at each other, and discussed paint brushes in general for a few minutes—also the dance. Then she asked me to come on over to the studio with her, and have a real chat. Of course I was delighted to do so.

That adorable place of theirs was a riot of flowers, such heaps of red and white. She is certainly artistic in the arrangement of her home, and really, Nessa is very fond of house-keeping after her fashion.

We sat down and had a heart-to-heart talk, and sort of got acquainted all over again on our own. Women never can when the men are about, somehow or other. Ted was out, so we had things all our own way. Nessa confessed that she had been very curious about me, as Jack had never talked about his girl very much, and that they had all wondered if I would be a regular cut and dried "uptowner," or just a country mouse sort. How she laughed when I walked into the studio with Jack that first visit. She told me that although she had not been quite able to place me, she had at least realized that I was interesting, and deep. I just love to be considered "deep," so I purred, audibly.

Then we had some tea, and over our cups waxed most confidential about men. Nessa is undoubtedly in love with her big handsome husband, and lets you know it. She told me that there was nothing so divine as matrimony—nothing. And this coming on top of Corcoran's explosion Nessa confessed that she had never written anything really worth while till after her marriage. Now I do have a girl that comes out with the truth as she did, and of course, I then told her how I felt about Ted, and of my yearnings for a career, etc. She smiled, and said just about what dear old Aunt Cecilia had said, with this one difference: Nessa assured me that if I sincerely wanted to keep up my painting after I was married, she knew that Jack was too fine a chap to stop me. These words were as sweet music in my young ears. I can tell you.

Nessa also told me that I would be surprised to find out how very modern a husband can be nowadays. She is a keen observer of human nature, this dark-eyed young woman. How I laughed when she described herself at the time of her marriage. She is so thoroughly frank and naive. And according to her own reports was a veritable little prig of a suburbanite when she first met Ted. Gradually she has become the suavely polished and pungent piece of femininity, in old blue and rose, and so happy. Nessa is an infectious sort of happiness. I feel that she appreciates her own new freedom about her husband, really. It filled me with a new respect for men, and for Jack. Why, who knows but what I will be telling her the same thing some day, not so far distant now, thank goodness.

Just as we were in the midst of all this, I walked Brinky. (To be continued.)

BILLY WHISKER

As Day, Night, and Batten were passing by a house whose door stood open, they caught the odor of roast goose, and seeing no one around, Burton peeped in and discovered a nice fat goose in the pan that had just been taken out of the oven in the kitchen, waiting to be served to guests in the dining room. Without a moment's hesitation, Burton stole the goose and started on a run with it to join the kids, who were waiting outside. As soon as they saw what he had, they all ran as fast as their legs would carry them around the corner of the street and hid in a yard whose gate stood open.

They did not get there any too soon, for the cook came out of the dining-room to serve the goose, and, finding it missing, ran out into the street to look for the lad boy that had stolen it. As luck would have it, one of the bad boys of the neighborhood was just passing along and she, of course, thought he had taken it. She ran up to him and demanded the goose, asking what he had done with it. He, of course, declared he had never seen her goose, and said he thought she was a crazy old goose herself. This made her so angry that she took the boy by the shoulders and shook him, demanding all the time to know what he had done with her goose. Things had come to this pass when the lady of the house came to the door to see what had become of the cook and the dinner, and when she saw her standing in the street shaking a boy she knew there had been foul play somewhere. When she called the cook to come back, the boy gave a quick jerk, wrenching himself loose and ran down the street just in time to call over the goats that were coming out of the yard, looking as innocent as sheep, after helping Burton eat the nice tender goose. Men may say goats do not eat meat—that is all they know about goats, for they will eat anything, from roast goose to tin cans.

After passing the boy who got the shaking they deserved, they wandered on until they stopped in surprise at seeing a big Billy goat stick his head around the corner of a high wall and eye them curiously.

"My! don't he look like papa!" said Day.

Then he came up to them, followed by his particular little flock, which consisted of two or three Noodles and five or six kids; and there were two kids that looked as like Day and Night as two peas from the same pod. "Well, I never!" said the old Billy. "Where did you two strange kids come from? I thought I knew every kid on this island."

"We came from America," said Night, "and were wrecked on your island."

"How strange," said the old goat, "that you should come from America! Why? that is the continent that Columbus discovered, and he used to live on this island."

Tomorrow you'll hear how Day got into trouble.

No "Boughing It" For Japs

J. P. Brown, sage and philosopher of Nolle's board of strategy table, has some sad experiences with Japanese laborers, particularly when wanted for his ranch on Molokai. He says he has made the rounds of Japanese auto stands where orientals in spick and span clothes wait and loaf all day long for a passenger, content to do that rather than take a real honest-to-goodness job. He makes his offer of wages, good wages, with house and fuel and water and so on.

Sucking his breath through his teeth, and after some reflection, the Japanese inquires: "You got farther shop there?"

Brown was taken off his feet when this question was first propounded. No, he didn't know of a barber shop around. His ranch is well up in the mountains, one of the most beautiful places in the islands.

"You got store?"

Brown confesses to a store three miles away. More reflection.

"You got picture house?"

Brown blinks at this question even now.

Finally, the Japanese says one thing more.

"No can go. Me got brother very sick. Too bad. I sorry."—Pacific Commercial Advertiser.

New-York - Day - By - Day

By A. O. MONTRE

NEW YORK, April 22.—In the froth of the bubble of White Way life some queer occupational groupings are presented. There is the "sap worker." Loose lipped young men who, always wear shiny serge suits, derby hats and roll their own cigarettes belong to the "sap workers." Some of them are assistants to stage jugglers, decoy passengers in the sight-seeing buses, gambling and stous house lookouts and messengers for shady transactions of the Tenderloin.

The "sap worker" is a subversive weakling, who seems as grateful for any stray job as a hungry dog is for a chunk of juicy meat. He never works more than a week at any one job and usually he is a slave of the needle or poppy. Many "sap workers" stand out in front of the Metropolitan during the opera season, hoping to find patrons for women who have left their longhaired or opera glasses at home.

Around the cheaper cafes there is always a type known as "split men." When dinners are through and longing for some sort of amusement, the "split men" usually well dressed, suggest that they go to a certain dance hall or to a certain calured or take a taxi-drive. They will accompany them and then get their commission from the owners of the places or taxis to which they guide their victims. Splitting the spoils, as it were.

All the theatre lobbies have their quota of "quick gapers." The "quick gaper" is an artist in approaching a victim. He will immediately call him by name, which he knows is wrong. The victim is then told a hard luck story so fast and furiously that he is swept off his feet and before he knows it he is handing out a coin or a bill. All the "quick gaper" needs is the victim's attention. I have fallen for this old trick three times myself and each time the stories were so amazing.

Fifth Avenue has just had a "week" of its own and it bedecked itself accordingly. The celebration was to show New Yorkers what a gem they have in the street and to mould sentiment for a continued union of elegant art and civic enterprise in improving it. Fifth Avenue was once a plain street, but it has flowered into the finest thoroughfare of its kind in the world. Good judges rate it above Regent street, the Rue de la Paix and the best avenues of Buenos Aires or Vienna. During the war the avenue reached its apogee. Befuddled and illuminated, it impressed poets and painters from all over the world. There is one thing that can be done to make Fifth Avenue better. That is to stop in some way the people who ride on top of the Fifth Avenue buses and point out the Metropolitan Tower as "the Woolworth Building."

Plain Proposition

 "So I am."
 "And yet you refuse me a new dress?"

WHO'S WHO In The Days News

EMPEROR EUGENIE

Recent news reports say that former Empress Eugenie is expected soon at Madrid. Eugenie, widow of Napoleon III, and one of the most famous women of the nineteenth century, will be sixty-four years old on May 8. She has been a widow just half of her life, for she was forty-seven years old when Napoleon III died in 1873. It will soon be fifty years since she and her husband lost their crowns by the revolution in France after the Franco-Prussian war.

Since 1871 Eugenie has made her home in England, where she spends the greater part of her time. In the winter she goes to the Riviera in Southern France. According to recent reports she has retained her faculties to a remarkable degree, although there are now, of course, few traces of the beauty that made her famous in the days of the second French empire.

Eugenie was the daughter of a Spanish nobleman, the Count de Montijo, and was married to Napoleon III in 1853. Her only child, the Prince Imperial, was killed in Zululand in 1879.

Carlotta, former Empress of Mexico another "queen of sorrows," is still living although long insane. She lives in Belgium. Carlotta, now eighty years old, is the widow of the Emperor Maximilian, the Austrian archduke whom Napoleon III made emperor of Mexico. He was shot by the Mexicans at Queretaro, in 1867, after the French support was withdrawn. Carlotta was born a Belgian princess, sister of the late King Leopold II and aunt of King Albert. Maximilian was the brother of the late emperor Francis Joseph of Austria-Hungary.

REVOLT IN MEXICO SPREADS

OTHER STATES JOIN SONORA IN SECESSION

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Reports both to the state and war departments today continued to support the unofficial dispatches that have told of the rapidly increasing area of revolt in Mexico. Administration officials studied them carefully, but without betraying any indication that the position of this government would be other than that of an observer.

The movement begun by the secession of Sonora has gained the support of at least four other states, the adherence of various groups of federal forces and the promises by Villa, Manuel Palmer and one or two other rebel chiefs that they will join in the fight on Carranza, the reports showed.

So far as could be learned here Carranza has made no overtures to the American government for assistance either directly or indirectly.

The rulings which have prevented his government from getting arms and munitions in the United States are still in effect. However, a request for permission to import war materials would cause no surprise. The presence of General Salvador Alvarado, as the unofficial representative of Alvaro Obregon, accepted leader of the new revolt, has not brought from the administration any sign of its willingness to recognize the belligerency of the anti-government group.

One small hope of an adjustment of the situation in Mexico was offered today in the announcement that a mission from Mexico City was on its way to Sonora for a conference with the leaders there. Members of that mission were reported to have held a conference with Carranza, but here it was regarded as doubtful if the secessionists would listen to any proposal made. Already, it was pointed out by those who have watched the growth of the movement, the revolt has spread over such territory and gained such support not only from partisans of Obregon, but from those who have been in the field for many months as ordinary rebels, and by units of the federal army, that even its leaders would have difficulty in checking it.

PRAYER MEETINGS IN POLICE STATION

Capt. Robert D. Bennett.

Capt. Bennett of the Louisville, Ky., police force has turned his station into a place of worship every Thursday night. He presides over these mid-week prayer meetings himself and gets a different minister to speak each week. "Money used to prevent crime is better invested than money spent to punish lawbreakers," says Captain Bennett.

Deputy Sheriffs And Pickets In Gun Battle

BUTTE, MONT., April 22.—City and county authorities today investigated a clash late yesterday near the Nevada mine here, in which it was reported that a deputy sheriff was shot. Most of the wounded were said to be pickets, placed about the mine following the calling of a strike Sunday by the Metal Mine Workers' Union to enforce demands including a wage of $7 for a six hour day and release of "all political prisoners."

The shooting began, according to Sheriff John K. O'Rourke, while he and a force of deputies were trying to disperse a crowd at the gates of the stockade about the mine. The first shot the sheriff fired was fired from a window of a nearby boarding house and immediately afterward, he said, "shots were fired in all directions."

Both police officers and the deputy sheriffs said they fired no shots.

Immediately after the shooting an extra edition of a newspaper calling upon all workers in the county to "lay down their tools and stop the wheels of industry" as a protest against the shooting of pickets appeared. Speakers at a mass meeting last night were quoted as urging their hearers to "arm yourselves in self-defense."

BRYAN MAKES BIG GAIN; JOHNSON MAINTAINS LEAD; PALMER LEADS IN GEORGIA

OMAHA, NEBRASKA, April 22.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson continued in the lead for the Republican presidential preference as the votes of the Tuesday primary were slowly received by newspapers tabulating the returns. William J. Bryan had gained enough votes in the day's count to place him among the first four candidates for delegate-at-large to the San Francisco convention.

With less than one-half of the 1,840 precincts in the state reporting, Senator Johnson had a lead of 8,045 votes over General Leonard Wood, his nearest competitor, with General John J. Pershing third.

In the Bryan-Hitchcock race for delegates-at-large, Bryan not only managed to get within the coveted four on the votes counted, but found one of his running mates there with him.

Democratic leaders said the incomplete returns indicated that former Governor Morehead was a winner in the gubernatorial race by probably the largest plurality of any candidate on the ballot. Republicans also predicted the nomination of Governor McKelvie.

The incomplete figures showed that Senator Hitchcock, seeking the presidential endorsement, was leading his opponent, Robert Ross, by almost three votes to one.

A contest has developed between Arthur Mullen and W. H. Thompson for Democratic national committee man, the figures being too incomplete to indicate who was closer.

The Republican vote for president from 850 precincts gave: Johnson 31,418; Wood 25,770; Pershing 16,673; Ross 923.

In the Democratic presidential race 812 precincts gave: Hitchcock 17,145; Ross 5,041.

For governor on the Republican ticket, 590 precincts showed: McKelvie 18,009; McFall 15,205; Pollard 10,000; Hall 6,036; McLaughlin 5,531; Matthews 2,590.

For Democratic governor, 832 precincts gave: Shumway 1,545; Jackson 3,600; Clark 5,025; Taylor 2,552.

From 543 precincts the vote for Democratic delegates at large showed: Neville (Hitchcock) 22,274; Shallenberger (Hitchcock) 22,704; Stephens (Bryan) 19,820; Bryan (Bryan) 18,823; Berge (Bryan) 18,614; Thomas (Bryan) 17,570; Nellie (Hitchcock) 16,796; McHenry (Hitchcock) 16,462.

The vote for Democratic national committeeman from 784 precincts was: Thompson 16,897; Mullen 17,481.

For Republican national committeeman 504 precincts gave: Howell 23,257; McClellan 23,832.

Insurgent Railroad Strikers Split By Revolt Against Chiefs

CHICAGO, April 22.—The next move insurgent railroad strikers in the Chicago district, split by a revolt against their own leaders, was awaited today by federal officials and railroad representatives, while traffic conditions throughout the middle and far west rapidly returned to normal.

In the Chicago district, which first felt the weight of the strike, livestock movement yesterday was reported greater than a year ago and the railroads announced 1148 car loads of coal were moved.

Several "rebel" leaders, reputedly yesterday by the strikers when at a mass meeting they counseled ending the walkout because they "could not fight the government" abandoned the strike and led small groups of switchmen back to the yards.

John Grunau, president of the Chicago Yardmen's Association the first to go out on the unauthorized strike, was in conference today with strikers to determine what course to pursue. He was released from the jail yesterday on bonds, but too late to attend the meeting at which the strikers cried down the referendum on returning to work.

SHARP BREAK AT OPENING IN THE CORN MARKET

CHICAGO, April 22.—Sharp new breaks took place today in the corn market right at the outset. The heaviest fall was in the May delivery, which in some cases exhibited a sheer descent of six cents a bushel since last night. Renewed weakness in the New York market was the main reason ascribed.

Initial prices in corn had a much wider range than usual and for the May delivery were as much as two cents apart for simultaneous trades in different parts of the pit. May started at $1.62 1/2 to $1.65 as compared with $1.66 1/2 to $1.68 at yesterday's finish. The corn market as a whole opened half cent to six cents lower with July at $1.56 1/2 to $1.57 1/2.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Liquidation of speculative shares was resumed at the opening of today's stock market, much of the pressure emanating from professional interests.

Offerings were well absorbed for a time. General Motors recovering 10 points of yesterday's 42 1/2 points decline while other leaders in the industrial and special divisions rallied 1 to almost 5 points.

Tuffed States Steel and some of the high grade oils, equipments and shipbuilders developed fresh reactionary tendencies, however, and before the end of the first hour many gains were cancelled, with numerous new low records to the current movement.

Further weakness of liberty bonds was again a disquieting influence the first four declining 1 percent and the first 4 1/2 losing 1.40 percent.

Advices received by local banks confirmed recent reports of enforced selling of liberty bonds at industrial centers where labor troubles have been especially prevalent.

BROADER POLICY BY ENGLAND TOWARD IRISH SINN FEIN

LONDON, April 22.—England's new Irish policy may be something broader than the existing home rule scheme and not unlike dominion home rule, says the Daily Sketch.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, recently named chief secretary for Ireland and General Sir Cecil P. N. Murray, the newly appointed military commander there, are said to favor moderation, and are making attempts to determine just what the Sinn Fein wants. A favorable atmosphere is being created and the government, the newspaper says, will go farther to reach a settlement than is generally believed.

Newspaper reports have recently speculated on the nature of the policy initiated by the government and it seems the first steps in carrying out present plans will be taken as soon as Sir Hamar is re-elected a member of parliament for Sunderland. Viscount Field Marshal French, lord lieutenant for Ireland will resign, says the Sketch, and a clean sweep will be made of officials in Dublin castle who are charged with being largely responsible for errors which have led to the present situation in the island. Thus the way to harmonious cooperation will be paved, the newspaper asserts.

Confesses To Murder Of Little Girl

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., April 22.—William Ray, a 19 year old negro, arrested last night in connection with the murder last Monday of Martha Huff, aged 11, made a written confession of the crime early today, according to a statement at police headquarters. The alleged confession was witnessed by four policemen.

In the statement Ray, according to the police, traced his movements from the time he is said to have enticed the girl from home by promising her new clothes until after he had thrown her body, stripped of clothing into Eagle Creek at the western end of the city.

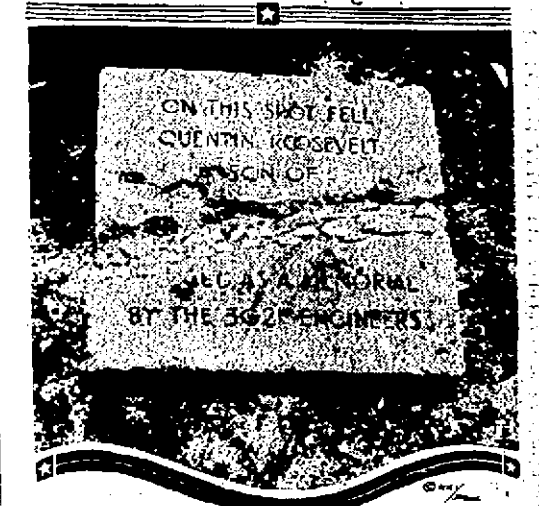

Ray denied that he assaulted the girl, the police said, but admitted he had stabbed her in the neck with a pocket knife when she fought off his attempt to embrace her and screamed. A knife with a bloody blade was found in his possession. The alleged confession was written after a stepfather of the girl had identified him as the person with whom the girl had left home. Ray came to Indianapolis from Chicago three weeks ago.

Woman Faces Death Penalty For Torture

QUEBEC, April 22.—Mrs. Marie Anne Houde was found guilty yesterday of torturing and murdering her 16 year old step daughter Aurene Houde and was sentenced to be hanged October 1.

The girl, after being beaten was buried with a red hot poker and made to walk barefooted in the snow, was forced to drink poison, the evidence disclosed. The post mortem examination of the body revealed 34 wounds. The defense pleaded insanity.

In three games played with more absolute skill and team work than any three Volley Ball games played in the city of Portsmouth, the Wholesalers won two out of three games from the Allies. The games were played with a skill, that is almost unbelievable should have been developed in the short time Volley Ball has been played in our city. The writer has seen many teams of boys, of all sizes, develop in Volley Ball, but he has never seen any team that could compare with the way the Business Men of Portsmouth have developed.

For the Wholesalers Hasland played his usual star game. Pursell was also in fine form, while Walter Hias shone forth as a star, and was a great factor in his team's victory. On the Allies side Ray Sobby led the bunch, while Charlie Dowling played the game of his life, picking balls off the net, and "killing" them in his style. The scores were 21 to 20, 15 to 21 and 27 to 19.

GENERAL LEONARD WOOD

It was a splendid, representative audience that greeted General Leonard Wood, candidate for the Republican nomination for president, when he appeared at the High School auditorium Wednesday night. And it was the speech of a clean minded, four-square, straight-forward American citizen, that General Wood gave his audience. He talked plain, straight facts as he saw them, he clothed his views in simple language, he did not dodge or hesitate at making clear his stand upon the great questions that will predominate in the coming campaign.

General Wood may or may not be nominated for president by the Republican party. He may or may not be elected, in the event of his nomination. But no one who heard him on Wednesday evening left the hall with any misgiving as to General Wood's ability to handle the duties of the presidency in a satisfactory manner, should it be written in the cards of fate that he shall occupy the most exalted position in the gift of the American people.

ALWAYS THE FUTURE

FOR several years it has been the half-wise policy of the county commissioners to construct bridges and culverts of a permanent character, that is, as a rule replacing the old wooden ones with iron or concrete.

This policy was well enough as far as it went, but the flaw in it was that it didn't go far enough—into the future.

That is to say it did not make sufficient provision against changing conditions.

The freshets of the first of the week developed the fact that lands are constantly being cleared up, or more reluctantly robbed of the timber and the result is that whenever rain falls the shed is quicker and this being less obstructed by growth of any sort, precipitates the water into their gathering courses in greater volume, causing a more rapid and destructive flood.

Quite a number of small bridges and culverts lying down stream show the country has been building well, but not altogether wisely. It may be that it will never reach the ultimate in the latter. In a country of high and steep hills, such as this, where the ground takes up scant moisture, it is hard to provide entirely sufficiently against the wild wash of the waters, especially when there is always insistent and insatiable demand against limited, yes, meagre means.

EXCEPTIONAL BUT STILL UNUSUAL

AKRON is disappointed over her census count. This shows how hard it is to please some people. The town shows a phenomenal growth, jumping from 69,047 to 208,047 for a gain of 139,000 per cent.

But Akron was expecting more and would not have been content with anything below 250,000. Yet she is hovering around third place for the entire state and that is something to be content with and to brag about.

The genuine surprise in the bureau's announcements of Wednesday, was the showing of Mansfield. She is a good, solid town, but is not generally regarded as particularly strong industrially and therefore not expected to do anything real handsome in the way of development. Yet she makes an advance of 7,036 and can now rate her population as officially 27,824, a growth that ought not to leave any flies in the ointment.

It is an interesting coincidence, to which we have before called attention to, that Mansfield, Marion and Portsmouth in population and in the distinct character and circulation of their papers, have for two decades been esteemed in the same class and in a way rivals. At the start Portsmouth in population and newspaper circulation ranked last of the trio. By 1920 she was first in both respects. She, in the matter of newspaper circulation is still kept well ahead by The Times and there appears no danger from the Mansfield figures that she will drop back otherwise, since Marion is not at all likely to pass her and she can't reach a place to the left of the Peerless. Anyway, with the territory but recently annexed and New Boston and Sevierville coming in Portsmouth will have to look to the rear to see the figures of the other two.

A PLEASANT DIVERSION

ALL the creeks and runs surged and roared out of their banks Tuesday and sympathetically the Ohio rose with a novel rapidity, following a precipitation that has seldom been equaled for the hours it prevailed.

Strange to say, notwithstanding the abnormal condition, the usual alarms and predictions of a flood were escaped. There didn't seem to be any public concern and even the Old River Man and the Weather Man were of one voice and there wasn't anything to be afraid of.

Let us take it for granted they are right for once. This spring has been one continuous round of wretchedness and disappointment. Wednesday, there was such a sun as was a delight to see and the weather was in attitude with the season far advanced to its end.

It is high time the plague ceases and "us" farmers be allowed to get into our fields otherwise than with gumboots or a john-boat. The town folks have got to eat, no matter how much they do kick about high prices of food stuffs.

CAN NOT GET TOGETHER

SEEMINGLY reliable information from Washington holds out no hope that the peace resolution, that was so promptly projected through the house, on the defeat of the peace treaty, will ever be passed. The senate stands in the way.

There was a partisan purpose lying behind its birth in the house, but the senate got itself in such a wrangle and jangle over the original measure that it is divided three ways on the resolution and there does not appear any probability of it ever coming to agreement there with the lower branch.

Thus all signs point to the fact that the league of nations and the treaty may be put up to the people for indirect decision at the November election.

Signs are not lacking, however, that the people have worn to utter weariness of the issue by the long contention in the senate and they are not disposed to regard it as a determining factor.

Of all the foolishness and frankness the country was ever plagued with that of the "overall" is the absurdest of all. It is disgusting the way newspapers and men will let a lot of cheap New York actors put it over on them.

Got a new revolution on down in Mexico. No, not disheartening. It must have been almost a whole day since the preceding one was heard from.

The DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

IN NESSA'S STUDIO

June 22.—When I was buying some brushes in a little art store today I walked into me but Nessa. She giggled hard at each other, and discussed paint brushes in general for a few minutes—also the latest. Then she asked me to come on over to the studio with her, and have a real chat. Of course I was delighted to do so.

That adorable place of theirs was a riot of flowers, such heaps of color and odor. She is certainly artistic in the arrangement of her home, and really, Nessa is very fond of house-keeping after her fashion.

We sat down and had a heart-to-heart talk, and sort of got acquainted all over again on our own. Women never can when the men are about, somehow or other. Ted was out, so we had things all our own way. Nessa confessed that she had been very curious about me, as Jack had never talked about the girl very much, and that they had all wondered if I would be a regular, hot and dried "uptowner," or just a country mouse sort. How she laughed when I told her that I was a city girl.

Nessa also told me that I would be surprised to find out how very modern a husband can be. She is a keen observer of human nature, this dark-eyed young woman.

How I laughed when she described herself as the time of her marriage. She is an absolutely frank and naive. And according to her own reports was a veritable little prig of a girl. Gradually she has become the most polished and pleasant piece of femininity, in old blue and rose, and so happy. Nessa's is an infectious sort of happiness. I feel that she appreciates her own sex tremendously. She is that as may be, I like her, and enjoyed my visit much.

She confessed that it was her Ted who had softened her down, and made her as tolerant as she is today, which, believe me, is a rare talent. Also that to him she owed all her inspiration in her work. I never did hear a woman talk more beautifully about her husband, really. It filled me with a new respect for men, and for Jack. Why, who knows but what I will be telling her the same thing some day, not so far distant now.

Just as we were in the midst of all this, in walked Brax. (To be continued.)

BILLY WILKERS

BY FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

As Day, Night and Button were passing by a house whose door stood open, they caught the odor of roast goose, and seeing no one around, Button peeped in and discovered a nice fat goose in the pan that had just been taken out of the oven in the kitchen, waiting to be served to guests in the dining room. Without a moment's hesitation, Button stole the goose and started on a run with it to the kids, who were waiting on the side. As soon as they saw what he had, they all ran as fast as their legs.

Things had come to this pass when the lady of the house came to the door to see what had become of the goose and the dinner, and when she saw her standing in the street shaking a boy she knew there had been foul play somewhere. When she called the cook to come back, the boy gave a quick jerk, wrenching himself loose and ran down the street just in time to tell over the gate that were coming out of the yard, looking as innocent as sheep, after helping Button eat the nice tender goose.

Men may say geese do not eat meat that is all they know about geese, for they will eat anything, from roast goose to this case.

After paying the boy who got the shaking they deserved, they wandered on until they stopped in surprise at seeing a big Billy goosie stick his head around the corner of a high wall and eye them curiously.

"May I don't he look like papa?" said Day.

Then he came up to them, followed by his particular little flock, which consisted of two or three Nankais and five or six kids; and there were two kids that looked as like Day and Night as two peas from the same pod.

"Well, I never!" said the old Billy. "Where did you two strange kids come from? I thought I knew every kid on this island."

"We came from America," said Night, "and were wrecked on your island."

"How strange," said the old goat, "that you should come from America! Why? that is the continent that Columbus discovered, and he used to live on this island."

"Tomorrow you'll hear how Day got into trouble," said the old Billy. Copyrighted by the Seafield Publishing Co., Akron, O.

They did not get there any too soon for the cook came out of the dining room to serve the goose, and finding it missing, ran out into the street to look for the kid who had stolen it.

As luck would have it, one of the bad boys of the neighborhood was just passing along and she, of course, thought he had taken it. She ran up to him and demanded the goose, asking what he had done with it. He, of course, declared he had never seen her goose, and said he thought she was a crazy old goose herself. This would carry them around the corner of the street and hid in a yard whose gate stood open.

They did not get there any too soon for the cook came out of the dining room to serve the goose, and finding it missing, ran out into the street to look for the kid who had stolen it.

As luck would have it, one of the bad boys of the neighborhood was just passing along and she, of course, thought he had taken it. She ran up to him and demanded the goose, asking what he had done with it. He, of course, declared he had never seen her goose, and said he thought she was a crazy old goose herself. This would carry them around the corner of the street and hid in a yard whose gate stood open.

New-York - Day - By - Day

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 22.—In the froth of the bubble of White Way life some queer occupational groupings are presented. There is the "zap worker."

Loose tipped young men who always wear shiny serge suits, derby hats and roll their own cigarettes belong to the "zap workers." Some of them are assistants to stage jugglers, decay passengers in the sight-seeing buses, gambling and muss house lookouts and musicians for shady transactions of the Tenderloin.

The "zap worker" is a subserfent weakling, who seems as grateful for any stray job as a hungry dog is for a chunk of juicy meat. He never works more than a week at any one job and usually he is a slave of the needle or poppy. Many "zap workers" stand out in front of the Metropolitan during the opera season, hoping to run errands for women who have left their forgetful opera glasses at home.

Around the cheaper cafes there is always a type known as "split men." When diners are through and longing for some sort of amusement, the "split men" usually well dressed, suggest that they go to a certain dance hall or to a certain cabaret or take a taxi-drive. They will accompany them and then get their commission from the owners of the places or taxis to which they guide their victims. Splitting the spoils, as it were.

All the theatre lobbies have their quota of "quick eyers." The "quick eyer" is an artist in approaching a victim. He will immediately call him by name, which he knows is wrong. The victim is then told a hard luck story so fast and furiously that he is swept off his feet and before he knows it he is handing out a coin or a bill.

All the "quick eyer" needs is the victim's attention. I have fallen for this old trick three times myself and each time the stories were so amazing.

Fifth Avenue has just had a "week" of its own and it heaped itself accordingly. The celebration was to show New Yorkers what a gem they have in the street and to mould sentiment for a continued union of commercial art and civic enterprise in improving it. Fifth Avenue was once a plain street, but it has flowered into the finest thoroughfare of its kind in the world. Good judges rate it above Regent street, the Rue de la Paix and the best avenues of Buenos Aires or Vienna. During the war the avenue reached its apogee. Bedragged and illuminated, it impressed poets and painters from all over the world. There is one thing that can be done to make Fifth Avenue better. That is to stop in some way the people who ride on top of the Fifth Avenue buses and point out the Metropolitan Tower as "the Woolworth Building."

Plain Proposition
"And you used to say you were willing to die for me?"
"So I am."

"And yet you refuse me a new dress?"
"But look at the cost of it!"
"It's cheaper than a funeral."

His Opinion Not Fixed
Lawyer (examining prospective juror in criminal case)—Mr. Juror, have you any fixed opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused?
Juror (emphatically)—Now, I ain't got no doubt but the guy's guilty, but they ain't nobody fixed me.

"What is that?"

Just His Feet

"No, but my feet do."

WHO'S WHO
In The Days News

EMPEROR EUGENIE
Recent news reports say that former Empress Eugenie is expected soon at Madrid. Eugenie, widow of Napoleon III, and one of the most famous women of the nineteenth century, will be ninety-four years old on May 5. She has been a widow just half of her life, for she was forty-seven years old when Napoleon III died in 1873. It will soon be fifty years since she and her husband lost their crown in the revolution in France after the Franco-Prussian war.

Since 1873 Eugenie has made the greater part of her time. In the winter she goes to the Riviera in Southern France. According to recent reports she has retained her faculties to a remarkable degree, although there are now, of course, few traces of the beauty that made her famous in the days of the second French empire. Eugenie was the daughter of a Spanish nobleman, the Count de Montijo, and was married to Napoleon III in 1853. Her only child, the Prince Imperial, was killed in Zululand in 1879.

Carlotta, former Empress of Mexico, another "queen of sorrow," is still living although long insane. She lives in Belgium. Carlotta, now eighty years old, is the widow of the Emperor Maximilian, the Austrian archduke whom Napoleon III made emperor of Mexico. He was shot by the Mexicans at Queretaro. In 1867, after the French support was withdrawn, Carlotta was born a Belgian princess, sister of the late King Leopold II and aunt of King Albert. Maximilian was the brother of the late emperor Francis Joseph of Austria-Hungary.

to foreign governments. Our banking institutions have established numerous branches abroad. We have become a shipping nation.

But of this lack and uncertainty of policy one thing seems fairly determined: that we shall one way or another maintain a substantial Merchant Marine under the American flag. We must remember that ships have not only a commercial but a political importance in international affairs. Our exports have grown in volume and variety. And they of European nations have supplanted our neutral markets and then have turned to our manufacturers and producers here has been increasingly stimulated. The effect of the war upon American industry has been very destructive and has developed markets for goods both in the home and foreign markets. Industry will have much greater access over our foreign commerce. These changes in our own economy can and then have naturally focused the interest of some of our people
